Mothering After Mother Loss Support Group

The Center for Early Relationship Support®

This five-week support group is an opportunity for mothers of young children to explore how the loss and absence of a mother influences one's own parenting experience. Participants will also have the opportunity to give and receive support to others in the group. This FREE support group is open to the entire community.

The Center for Early Relationship Support provides services designed to meet the many complex needs of families in the first three years of their child's life. Our services are grounded in the knowledge that nurturing maternal strengths within a caring community promotes secure infant-parent attachments.
